

Anco Environmental Services, Inc.

Full-Service Commercial & Residential Oil Tank Contractors Since 1981

Anco Environmental Services, Inc., is certified by the state of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York to offer complete environmental testing and remedial and reclamation services for businesses, industries and municipal concerns throughout the entire area. They specialize in underground and aboveground storage tank removal and disposal. With vacuum trucks and tanker service, they provide on-site treatment services. They will remove and dispose of contaminated soil and liquid wastes, and they can provide tank cleaning and tank and site decontamination.

The value of this company is their ability to provide a safe and sound environmental structure. They are well-known in this and surrounding areas for their high standards of excellence and their absolute adherence to EPA and OSHA regulations. Anco Environmental Services, Inc., also offers 24-hour emergency response for the public's safety. Their personnel are highly trained in hazardous waste disposal techniques and keep current with advances in the field and in state and federal regulations governing hazardous waste disposal, transportation and site reclamation.

Anco Environmental Services, Inc., serving all of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, may be reached toll-free at 1-800-564-8502, or visit them on the Web at www.ancoenv.com today for more information. If you are concerned with hazardous materials or contaminants of any type, contact these professionals for prompt and accurate service. Their remedial design and implementation services are both environmentally and economically sound.